

Alan is a native of Buffalo, New York. After graduating from high school in 1990, he enlisted in the United States Marine Corps. His primary job role in the corps was that of Aviation Electrician. At the end of his five-year tour with the Marines, Alan was honorably discharged, and decided to remain in San Diego, CA. His first civilian position outside the Corps was as an aircraft technician with McDonnell Douglas Aerospace, at TOPGUN, in Miramar, CA.

As job opportunities presented themselves, Alan decided to enter the semi-conductor industry, and moved to Orange County, CA. In 2002, Alan decided to enter Law Enforcement, and joined the California Department of Corrections. He served with the CDC at Soledad State Prison, in Soledad, CA, until he made the decision to re-enter the semi-conductor industry, and relocated to Boise, Idaho. It was on his second day in Idaho, that Alan met his wife, Misty.

Alan and his family moved to Maricopa in 2006, after he accepted a position with the Intel Corporation, where he is today. Alan believes that "no American is entitled to an American dream, but every American is entitled to the opportunity to pursue one", and that "Public service is about putting your community before yourself. It should never be about obtaining a title, or recognition. It's about being the steward of the public trust; it's about doing the right thing when no one is looking; it's about being a part of something that is bigger than yourself."

Alan also believes that government should be fiscally responsible, as "we must always remember that it's on the backs, sweat, and hard work of citizens that government draws its purse. Government doesn't have, and has never had any of its own money; it only has our money."

Alan was elected to the Maricopa City Council in May 2010, but prior to his service he was a member of Maricopa's Public Safety Advisory Committee. It was here he played a key role in helping to draft the City's graffiti ordinance.

Alan is very involved with his community, and volunteers whenever time permits. Currently, he is involved with the following:

- Vice-President, Villages at Rancho El Dorado, HOA
- Chairman, Recreational Center Oversight Committee, HOA
- Member, American Legion
- Graduate, Maricopa's first Leadership Academy

Alan and Misty are the proud parents of Alivia and Holden.
